

Lesley Gibbins

I started my Kleeneze business in November 2005 initially to give me something to do and earn a bit of money for a few luxuries. In my first four weeks I earned £291.75 and by being consistent my income slowly increased over the next few months.

Recently, however, my husband and I have realised that the pension plan he has will no longer enable him to retire at 55 as we had planned and I have now started to build my own team of distributors with a view to replacing Paul's income and allowing him to take early retirement as planned.
